Equal Pay for all

The Challenge

Women are still often paid less than their male colleagues in the same profession. Men are also, on average, more likely to be promoted. Despite many efforts to close the gender pay gap, the source of inequality seems to be deeply rooted in society.

Equal Pay for All

The Erasmus+ funded project “Equal Pay for All” addresses these issues and creates awareness to sensitise women as well as social workers, youth and women's associations, educational associations and stakeholders. Awareness for inequality on the labour market must be raised in order to promote a just society. The starting point for change might be with younger generations.

What we do

We want to strengthen the empowerment of young and adult women. The project includes activities such as a webinar series, a platform for exchange and campaigns. The project results will be publicly available for everyone and free of cost.
